Facelift for the Kodiak Post Office

Sunday, 16 August 2009

{audio}/images/stories/mp3/kodiak_post_office.mp3{/audio}

Diana Gish/KMXT

The U.S.

Postal Service is scrambling to save money by closing branches and possibly even cutting out Saturday mail delivery across the country. But here, the federal agency has decided to spend some money on the Kodiak post office. Kodiak Post Master Bill Kersch explained the recent development which has actually taken quite awhile. For years the plan has been to build a new Kodiak post office but not at its current location. Now, instead of getting a new post office Kodiak gets the next best thing; a freshly remodeled one.

The project costs considerably less than a new building would and keeping the post office in its current location does not disappoint Kersch at all.

(Kodiak Post Office 2 "...about staying where we're at.")

http://www.kmxt.org Powered by Joomla! Generated: 24 April, 2014, 17:27

http://www.kmxt.org Powered by Joomla! Generated: 24 April, 2014, 17:27

http://www.kmxt.org Powered by Joomla! Generated: 24 April, 2014, 17:27