On this week's show: Homer fishermen look to the skies to save their waters; Nations around the world are stepping up the fight against illegal fishing; and the pink season wraps up in Southeast. All that, and the problems in Pelican continue to mount. Also, the Homer Harbor is getting WiFi. We had help from KBBI's Marcia Lynn and Casey Kelly in Homer; KFSK's Matt Lichtenstein in Petersburg, and KCAW's Robert Woolsey in Sitka.
