On this week's show, there's a disturbing new report out about farmed fish; meanwhile, the feds are not going to push offshore aquaculture on Alaska; and fishermen in Homer send out an SOS to the world. Also, Bristol Bay gets a new MAP agent, documents relating to the Alaska Ranger sinking are released, and exactly how many octopus are there? We had help from Coast Alaska's Ed Shoenfeld in Juneau, KBBI's Marcia Lynn in Homer, KDLG's Mike Mason in Dillingham, and and NNN's Tom Banse in Idaho.
