

Borough Consultants Talking Trash

Tuesday, 08 July 2008

{audio}/images/stories/mp3/080708.solid_waste_plan.mp3{/audio}

Jay Barrett/KMXT

The people of Kodiak will get a chance to provide feedback on the draft solid waste plan the borough commissioned. Two representatives from the consulting firm of Bell and Associates are in town this week to hold a series of meetings on what Kodiak can do about its garbage.

Presentations will be made before Noon Rotary Tuesday, at a special Solid Waste Advisory Committee meeting at 5:15 Wednesday evening, and at the assembly work session on Thursday night at 7:30. The plan will be the subject of KMXT's Talk of the Rock on Friday morning.

Chris Bell says the plan, which is available online at the borough's web site, comes in two parts:

-- (Solid Waste 1 30 sec "Solid Waste 1" also covered in the appendices.)

Bell hopes people will read at least the summary before coming to the meetings. He says a lot of the more common questions people have are already addressed there:

-- (Solid Waste 2 later on.”) 46 sec “… move forward with the details

He said the draft plan comes with three recommendations:

-- (Solid Waste 3 can choose.”) 25 sec “… recommendations, or what people

Kodiak’s isolated island location limits what solid waste disposal and recycling options are available to the borough:

-- (Solid Waste 4 plan.”) 37 sec “… some of the options within this