

The Alaska Fisheries Report With Casey Kelly July 31

Thursday, 31 July 2008

{audio}/images/stories/mp3/080731.afr.mp3{/audio}

Casey Kelly/KMXT

From KMXT in Kodiak, this is the Alaska Fisheries Report. Coming up this week…

Ted
Stevens, perhaps the most important figure in the history of Alaska fisheries is indicted on corruption charges.

The state wants a new client to deal with the Marine Stewardship Council, while the MSC itself standardizes assessment.

And
the demand for oysters from Kachemak Bay is through the roof.

Those stories and more coming up on this week’s Alaska Fisheries Report.

I’m Casey Kelly.

Thanks
for joining me.

###