Coming up this week, free salmon nets proved controversial on the Kuskokwim, they're incubating salmon eggs in Norton Sound while two Southeast communities would like to see more fish hatcheries in their region. All that and setnetters on the Kenai want their fair share of Cook Inlet salmon. We had help this week from KYUK's Sophie Evan in Bethel, KDLL's Shaylon Cochran in Kenai, KNOM's Matthew Smith in Nome, and KSTK's Anne Hillman in Wrangell.
