

Online Service Assists USCG Spouses With Meals

Wednesday, 12 December 2012

{audio}/images/stories/mp3/121212.bring_them_a_meal.mp3{/audio}

Maggie Wall/KMXT

Kodiak is known for rallying around locals who need a bit of help. And local residents are also known to put on some mighty good potlucks.

So what's better than a service that allows folks to divvy up meal making to help out a family in temporary need of some good meals?

Kathy Blair, a member of the Coast Guard Spouses Association, recently organized a stretch of meals to help a Coast Guard family during a time of need.

She says the website "Take Them a Meal" is an ideal free public service for scheduling and coordinating a group of temporary meal makers. Blair explained how it works to KMXT's Maggie Wall.