

The Alaska Fisheries Report with Brianna Gibbs

Sunday, 17 February 2013

{audio}/images/stories/mp3/alaska_fisheries_report_feb_14_online.mp3{/audio}

Coming up this week, the FDA extends the public comment period on a new genetically engineered fish species, a study finds majority of seafood workers in Alaska live out of state, a world renowned fisheries economist talks market trends for salmon and a petition to protect Alaska's cold water corals stalls. All that and the Alaska Seafood Marketing Institute's photo contest winners, coming up, on the Alaska Fisheries Report.