Coming up this week: Kodiak herring wrapped up, cannery workers in Platinum will be making bank this summer, and the North Pacific Fishery Management Council is set to make a final decision on Gulf King bycatch. All that, and yes, more fish-smuggling in the news – at least this time it wasn't in their pants. The Alaska Fisheries Report came together this week through the fishy reporting of KDLG's Dave Bendinger and Ben Matheson in Dillingham, and KFSK's Matt Lichtenstein in Petersburg.
