

Kodiak Coat Co. Leaving Fleece, Alaska, Behind

Tuesday, 06 August 2013

{audio}/images/stories/mp3/130806.kodiakcoats_ktoo.mp3{/audio}

Kodiak Coat Company owner Bridget Milligan in her workshop in downtown Juneau. Photo by Annie Bartholomew/KTOO

Rosemarie Alexander/KTOO

The founder of the Kodiak Coat Company, which got its start here, in Kodiak before moving to Juneau about 15 years ago, is now moving on from water- and wind-proof fleece coats to a more genteel product line.

Bridget Milligan, the designer and creator of the popular wet weather coats named for Kodiak, is taking up leather and silks, and is leaving Alaska.