

The Alaska Fisheries Report with Jay Barrett

Friday, 23 January 2009

{audio}/images/stories/mp3/090122.alaska_fisheries_report.mp3{/audio}

Coming up on this week's show: Senator Mark Begich hires a familiar face to be his fisheries advisor; the International Pacific Halibut Commission sets catch limits; and more Exxon Valdez payments could be made soon. All that, plus, how much is commercial fishing really worth to the state of Alaska? We had help this week from Fish Radio's Laine Welch in Kodiak; Mike Mason in Anchorage; and KUCB's Anne Hillman in Unalaska.