

High School Senior Heads to Palmer For Democratic Convention

Thursday, 22 May 2008

Mary Donaldson/KMXT

{audio}/images/stories/mp3/delegate_ranney_21_may_2008.mp3{/audio}

High school senior Laura Ranney is just 18-years-old, and is already involved in Alaska politics.

Ranney will be heading to Palmer this weekend to participate in the Alaska Democratic Convention. Mary Donaldson had the chance sit down with her and talk to her about what it’s like to be one of the youngest delegates for the convention.

###